THE WEATHER

The center of the western storm after passing east over the Middle Mississippi and Ohio Valleys has finally reached the Southern New England coast and by Friday morning will have passed out to sea. This storm has been attended by squalls on the Middle Atlantic and Southern New England coasts and rains in the Atlantic states.

England coasts and rains in the Atlantic states.

Rains were heavy at many points in the New Egiand states, New York, Pennsylvania, and the Ohio Valley.

There are no indications of unseasonably warm weather over the east half of the country during the next several days. The indications are that the weather will be generally fair Friday and Saturday in the eastern states, No decided temperature changes are indicated for the Eastern states during the next forty-eight hours, although the temperatures will be somewhat higher in Northern New England.

Winds for Friday and Saturday: North Atlantic, fresh to strong west. Storm of considerable intensity central near Cape Cod moving east northeastward. Middle Atlantic moderate to fresh west and northwest.

Forecast. Southern New England and Eastern New York: Fair Friday and Saturday.

Northern New England: Clearing, somewhat warmer Friday: Saturday fair.

TEACHER For Goodness

Members of Y. M. C. A. Class in Salesmanship Ended Successful Course Thursday Night and Remembered L. M. Crandall With Pleasing Gift.

L.M.-Crandall, principal of the Norwich Commercial school was presented a handsome pair of gold cuff links, with his initials suitably inscribed, in old English, by the members of the Y. M. C. A. salesmanship class of which he is teacher and which held its concluding session of the summer at the Y. M. C. A. building on Thursday night. The presentation of the gift came as a complete surprise to Mr. Crandall as the class had made their plans with the utmost secrecy and in acknowleding, the gift Mr. Crandall found it difficult to express his sentiments.

The class meeting for the final time this summer, showed unusual interest in the work and the session lasted for nearly two hoursa. Important business transactions included the election of A. Eugene Smith of the Barrows Shoe store as president and Ralph Martin of the N. Y. N. H. and H. freight office as secretary and treasurer.

The newly elected president, A. Eugene Smith, in a few chosen words, expressed the appreciation of the Y. M. The newly elected president, A. Engene Smith, in a few chosen words, expressed the gratitude of the class for the efforts of Mr. Crandall in opening up to them the great possibilities in salesmanship and business efficiency. Mr. Smith concluded his remarks by presenting to Mr. Crandall the gold links. The class then voiced will be started in the fall. A large number are already interested in the course and several have signified their intention of joining.

Judge Coit of New London Strikes
Heavy Blow at Junk Dealer's Practice.

In the New London police court Thursday morning Judge William B. Coit showed that junk dealers must obey the law, especially in that particular which prohibits the buying of junk from minors, where he fined Jacob Cohn, a junk dealer, $20 and costs and then added a sentence of 30 days in jail.

Judge Coit took the opportunity of serving notice that all junk dealers must keep books, showing every transaction they are a party to and must report weekly to the captain of police as prescribed by law. Judge Coit requested Prosecuting Attorney Cronin to notify Captain Haven of the police department to see that the dealers follow these instructions.

Cohn was charged with buying lead from two Italian boys of the Fourth ward, the lead having been stolen from Antonic Caracausa's building on the INDIAN BONES UNCOVERED. Old Burying Ground Unearthed Groton Long Point, Perhaps,

At Groton Long Point the finding of three skeletons, those of Indians oc-curred Wednesday. A road is being curred Wednesday. A road is being built on the lower part of the Point in the west section, connecting the little islond in the lagoon with the mainland. While the Italian workmen were ditching there the skeletons were unearthed. Work was immediately stopped and word sent to the office on the Point. Several persons interested in Indian lore came to look at the bones and there annears little at the bones and there appears little doubt in their minds that the spot was formerly used as a burial ground, though it is commonly supposed that for this purpose only high ground was Refectory of College for Women, No award of the contract for the construction of the refectory at Connecticut College for Women has yet been made. Working plans, prepared by Architect James Sweeney, are in the hands of contractors, who desired to bid but two of these have not yet to bid but two of these have not yet handed in their estimates, thus causing the delay. It will be necessary to start work shortly, however, as little more than two months remain before the opening of the college.

President F. H. Sykes will make his home in one apartment of the refectory building. The upper floor will be subdivided into suites for occupancy of members of the faculty.

AT THE DAVIS.

Photoplays and Vaudeville. Photoplays and Vaudeville.

A song and dance revue, featuring four men in dress suits and four comely maidens in various attire, was the new attraction at the Davis theatre on Thursday. Lithe of limb and graceful of movement, they danced well in the glare of the spot lights. They also sang. The octette presented a number of quite up-to-the-minute steps and whiris and the onlookers applauded. The new films were excellent. Satan McAilister's Heir gave the western cattle country and the longhorns and a charming tale of the power of a little child.
